The library provides a wide variety of services by providing books, videos, audio cassettes, CD's, magazines, newspapers, and DVD's that can be checked out. The facility also provides a reference service, genealogy room, meeting rooms, and audio visual equipment. The public has access to computers, including wireless internet access. Other services include a fax service, lamination, color and black and white copies, tax forms, interlibrary loans, reciprocal borrowing, and access to the physically handicapped and library services for the visually impaired.

The Falmouth Outlook is on microfilm along with other historical information. The Barton Files has a large amount of genealogical information on Pendleton County. The library is used by people researching family trees, deaths, etc.

Children's Programs - Summer Reading: A summer reading program is offered for children age 3 years through the 12th grade. This weekly program encourages children to spend time reading during

Story Hour: A Story Hour, led by the Children's Librarian Sandy Florence, is held from 10-11 a.m. on Friday mornings for children 3-5 years of age. This includes music, crafts and stories especially designed for young library users. A Calendar Schedule can be picked up at the library with a listing of upcoming events offered.

Starry Hour: This is a night-time story program designed for children 2 through 4 years of age. Sessions are in the spring, summer and fall, with sign-up necessary.

Bookmobile Service: Pendleton Library also offers a Bookmobile Service. This is an outreach service that makes the library more accessible to the residents of Pendleton County, who find it difficult or impossible to travel to the library. This mission is accomplished through service to daycare centers, nursing homes, and retirement communities as well as rural communities. For additional information please contact the Bookmobile Librarian, Donna Campbell.
